The secret to success is practice. Most of you need to practice everyday and do not get behind. You must practice the concept until you master it. For some of you that will take longer than others. Mastering a concept requires a student to be able to understand the concept well enough to be able to explain how to do it to another person. It also helps to sometimes take a break from the study for 5-10 minutes and then come back and be sure you still understand how to work a problem using the concept.
